Method for Content-Aware Redirection and Content Renaming

Abstract of Disclosure

The present invention is directed to mechanisms for content-aware redirection and content exchange/content discovery that permit a request for content to be redirected to a particular advantageous server that can serve the content.

Figures